Affinity Humidifiers

Home comfort involves more than just temperature. The right moisture level is crucial, too. Heating a home dries out the air, causing problems that range from static to cracks in furniture and woodwork to health concerns like hard-to-breathe air. Dry air may even lead to higher energy costs, because it removes moisture from the skin resulting in a cold sensation that causes you to adjust the heat higher to feel more comfortable. The right humidifier can prevent all that. And with York's Affinity Series Humidifiers, you can find a durable, efficient design that will improve the feel of any home.

Affinity Powered and Bypass Units

Powered Unit

- Fan-powered unit mounts easily on the supply air plenum and removes 18 gallons of moisture per day from your conditioned air space.
- Built-in fan provides air improvement across the water panel and into the conditioned air.
- Water is metered across the patented KineticFlo trough. Unevaporated water drains from the bottom of the unit to eliminate mineral buildup, which reduces both the frequency of needed maintenance as well as the time spent on that maintenance.

Bypass Units

- Bypass humidifier mounts easily on the warm or return plenum and removes 12 to 17 gallons of moisture per day (depending on the model).
- A portion of the heated air from the furnace passes through a water-soaked pad, which absorbs additional moisture. The air then returns for distribution throughout your home.
- Water is metered across the patented KineticFlo trough. Unevaporated water drains from the bottom of the unit to eliminate mineral buildup, which reduces maintenance times and frequency.
