

What is Blue Sky Involve?

Blue Sky Involve encourages Johnson Controls employees to form volunteer teams that work with local non-profits or schools to support the arts, education, environment, health, and social service.

How does it work?

- 1) Employees form a team and select a non-profit organization or school to work with on a volunteer project.
- 2) Approved projects receive a grant from Johnson Controls. Grants vary by project and range from $250 to $2500 USD.
- 3) Communities around the world benefit from the volunteer work and employees experience leadership development and team building.
