We go further and faster, together.

This week the U.S. has shown leadership by rejoining the Paris Agreement to reach net zero carbon by 2050.

These 53 companies (and counting) know we can go faster. That's why they've joined The Climate Pledge—a commitment co-founded by Amazon and Global Optimism—to be net zero carbon across their businesses by 2040, 10 years ahead of the Paris Agreement.

Together, we have what it takes to help save our planet and create the economy of the future.
